

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A printing system comprises an evaluating device (CPU) that evaluates a quality of an image to be printed according to inputted image data and a displaying device that displays the evaluation on the evaluating device. Therefore, the printing system can inform the user of the evaluation due to the exposure.